

100 Years ago in The American Mathematical Monthly

Special efforts are being made to secure as large a collection as possible of letters by and to LEONHARD EULER for publication in his complete works. In view of the fact that this publication is much more expensive than was expected, the committee in charge is anxious to secure more subscribers for these works, as well as more members of the Euler Society. The members of this society promise to contribute at least ten francs per year towards the expense of publishing Euler's complete works.

Complete sets of the MONTHLY for the year 1913, being the first volume under the reorganization, are in constant demand, but the supply of certain numbers in that volume has been exhausted. These numbers are January and June, 1913. Since the last issue several extra copies of the January number have been sent in and now a few complete sets of volume xx are again available, and several other sets are complete except for the June number. Any one who can contribute an extra copy of either the January or the June number will confer a great favor upon the editors.
